Workflow Intelligence™

An Intelligent Worklist Helps You Increase Efficiency and Improve Patient Care

Radiologists need modern, interoperable tools to navigate today's workflow considerations. A PACS worklist alone isn't enough to help you stay efficient, improve patient care, and control costs.

Change Healthcare Workflow Intelligence helps you manage today's complex reading environments. This consolidated, enterprise-wide worklist lets radiologists view all studies, no matter where they originate. This improved visibility and intelligent prioritization helped one of our customers reduce their ED turnaround times by more than 30%.*

Drive Collaboration and Communication Across Your Enterprise

Being able to carve up the work so there's accountability and a better level of attention to high priority cases is a powerful one-two punch

-Dr. Matthew Brady

Align Demand and Supply

All studies are not created equal. That's why you need a worklist that helps you balance your case load so you can focus on improving patient care and efficiency. Smart task assignment helps you achieve your goals, whether that means maximizing your sub-specialist reads, or meeting turnaround time SLAs.

The worklist is dynamic, and cases move up to the top as they become more urgent so they don't slip through the cracks.

Every site defines its own assignment and escalation rules, and you can change and modify them over time as your needs change. Collaboration tools and automatic notifications help you close the communication loop with your colleagues inside and outside the hospital.

All the data is timestamped and can be extracted and analyzed by your administrators to see what's working and where you can keep improving.

Help Control Costs

Since Change Healthcare Workflow Intelligence is vendor neutral, there's no need for an expensive, intrusive PACS replacement. It integrates with any PACS and consolidates all your studies in a single worklist.
